

Questions to Ask your Doctor Before Treatment Begins

We have compiled a list of questions that you may want to consider asking your medical team. Please feel free to print off a copy and take along with you when you are seeing your doctor. There is also space to make your own notes. If you or someone you love is facing a cancer diagnosis it can be hard to know what to ask - here are some useful starting points.

What stage is my head and neck cancer?

Can I do anything to make treatment more effective?

Should I get a second opinion? Can you recommend a colleague to give a second opinion?

What support is available to patients and their families at this hospital?
